

Hello, My name is Seyyad. I am 20 years old. I write you this letter with great hope because I know that you also want peace. I don't know you. But I know that you will read my letter. That means that you also desire to wish. I want to be sincere with you. In our society, Armenian is associated with the enemy. I am sure that it is the same in your society. But I don't think so. Living in a war situation only damages us. I don't have a feeling of hatred towards you. Living in a war situation is not a sin of mine or yours. I think you are not to blame for the occupation of Nagorno-Karabakh and surrounding areas, the killing of thousands of citizens and the fact that millions of people can't return to their homelands, are not your blame. I am very sad that this conflict is still going on because this situation damages both sides. I am sure that you also feel sorrow when your soldiers die on the frontline, as we feel sorrow when our soldiers die. That killed soldier is a son of a mother, and the father of a child. This is not logical that we can live in peace but we continue to live in a war situation. And this conflict causes only harm to two people, two nations. This conflict hampers the development of two states from economic and social points of view. I think you understand me very well. The establishment of peace may become the cornerstone of development in our region.

With wishes-for-peace

Be healthy!
